NOTE: These Advertising Policies apply to members of the American Board of Foot and Ankle Surgery® (ABFAS) [this includes ABFAS diplomates and American Board of Ambulatory Foot Surgery (ABAFS) diplomates]. Board Qualified status is not a membership category, and may not be used in any way on letterhead or in advertising of any kind.

INTRODUCTION

The Board of Directors has adopted these policies to assist member podiatric surgeons to advertise their board certification status appropriately and professionally. Strictly following these policies will protect and enhance the public image of podiatric surgery.

All advertising should convey professional values, attitudes, and demeanor. Sensational or flamboyant advertising techniques should be avoided.

The Board of Directors has established a process (see page 9) whereby it evaluates, reprimands, and maintains records of policy violations. The Board of Directors may implement changes to the Advertising Policies.

Individual Responsibility. Each ABFAS member is responsible for advertising statements made by the member or on his/her behalf. This means that the member, not the staff, agent, or advisor, must know and follow the policies set out in this document. The member will be held responsible for violations.

If a false statement or other policy violation occurs, the member is obligated to correct the violation and to issue a corrected statement to those who received the false or misleading information.

The Board of Directors reserves the right to sanction a member for misleading or deceptive advertising.
